1. On 14 and 16 December 1951, six MiG-15s were counted on the east end of the runway at Parchim airfield. At least 12 aircraft of an undetermined type were on the western edge of the field. There was no flying on both days. 25X1B

2. At 12:45 p.m. on 19 December, 1 officer and 15 air force EM marched from Schwerin railroad station to Goerries. ** 25X1

* [REDACTED] Comment. According to another source, Parchim airfield is still occupied by a fighter regiment. The 12 aircraft may be MiG-15s.

** [REDACTED] Comment. The Schwerin Goerries area is occupied by Soviet Army units. It is possible that the air force soldiers who were observed for the first time in this area were identified with an alleged construction of a new airfield. Two other sources mentioned, for the first time, the construction of a new airfield southeast of Schwerin. [REDACTED]
